11-YEAR-OLD BOY IS ELECTROCUTED

Thousands of Phones Still Dead as Linemen Struggle in Downpour to Restore Service Here.

Weather Bureau promises of a rainess, cloudy day, with temperatures ranging between 36 and 44 degrees, well above the freezing point, brought renewed hopes to Atlanta this morning as the city struggled to recover from the ravages of a six-day burial inder a coating of ice.

Yesterday's steady rain brought fresh perils of floods along the Chattahoochee river between Atlanta and West Point, Ga., as melting ice added to the drainage volume of a rain that had recorded 2.92 inches in Atlanta from Wednesday morning until early last night. Forecasts of an end to the rain during the early hours of last night served to allay these fears.

Summary of Condition.

Here is a brief summary of Atlanta's condition last night after the six-day clash with the elements at their worst:

Lights-Although nearly 75 per cent of the residential lights are still out, a power company spokesman said late last night the "substantial prog ress' was now being made; that a good deal of the local trouble would be cleared up during the night and y: that new main transmission nes had been restored and that serv Hampton, out for a day and a half, probe of school affairs and then failed ice had been resumed at Jonesboro and and to other smaller towns that have not had service since Saturday.

HOLLYWOOD, Cal., Jan. 2.—

Politics certainly produces copycats. First, the young republicans meet, being greeted by a typical bounding juvenile, who's the last surviving drummer boy of Shiloh. Then the young democrats come rallying as fast as wheelchairs will bring them, with their breakfast shawls and their ear-trumpets. The self-proclaimed "young" leader of any party is usually somebody who hopes to set a patriotic example to his grandchildren and at the same time get the old job back.

The republicans hold a grass-roots convention. So this month at Maccon there'll be what you might call a grass-widow convention for the revolting southern democrats—absolutely too revolting for words, to hear Jim Farley talk. You see, they've been divorced, but the decree is not yet final.

Southern democrats are great hands for seceding and remaining so every day in the year except just one day. On election day, they become reconciled long enough to vote the straight democratic ticket. Twenty minutes later, they're off the zeservation again.

Renewing his criticisms of Governor Talmadge for operating the state government without an appropriations bill. State Representative Milton Shirah, of Colquitt county, today urged the legislature to convene itself to enact such a bill. He said Talmadge has "appropriated to his own use the legislative prerogatives" of the state, and urged the presiding officers of the two houses of the assembly to "fix a date for the convening" of the legislature. "There is no constitutional provision against convening the legislavision against convening the legislature in voluntary sessions, when an emergency exists, for it is clear that the framers of the constitution intended that the members of the general assembly should be qualified and ready for action at any time during their term of office," he said.

The constitution, Shirah said, specifically declares that "no person" discharging the legislative, judicial or executive powers of the government shall exercise the functions of either of the others."

FUNERAL RITES HELD

FOR GENERAL LIGGETT

FOR GENERAL LIGGETT

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 2.—(P)— Cannons boomed a 15-gun salute today at burial services for LieutenantGeneral Hunter Liggett, 78, second in command of American forces during the World War.

Hundreds of mourners braved a driving rainstorm to pay last respects to the World War hero. Beside the grave sat Mrs. Harriet Lane Liggett, the widow, herself ill.

At Grace cathedral, where funeral services were held after the body had lain in state at the city hall, Major General Paul B. Lamone eulogized
General Liggett as "a living rock of Gibraltar—an inspiration to the greatest American army ever assembled."

Burial was in Presidio National

COMMITMENT TRIAL

SOUGHT IN TORCH CASE

JEFFERSON, Ga., Jan. 2.—(P)—
George Westmoreland, attorney for at four young men held in the investigation of the torch death of Lawrence and barrett, Jackson county farmer, said today he would seek preliminary hearings for the defendants this week. Barrett was found badly burned near the Athens-Jefferson highway the might of December 26, He had also received a blow on the head.

The four young men, listed as Ishmel Samples, 18, and R. M. Samples, 20, brothers; R. Dailey, 16, and Ralph Allison, 21, were committed to jail Saturday by Coroner W. L. Benton after completion of an inquest.

At the inquest, all four denied any part in the farmer's death.

Sheriff R. M. Culberson said the body of Barrett had been dragged from the place where he was burned to a spot about 150 yards away. He said there were two sets of foot prints on each side of the body. He told the coroner's jury that Barrett's hands were not burned, and that a man whose clothes were on fire naturally would try to extinguish the flames with his hands.

DALTON, Ga., Jan. 2.—(P)—
Abrupt adjournment of the first meeting of Dalton's new government left the city with only two policemen officially on duty for a time today—the chief and one other man.

The new mayor, O. R. Hardin, adjourned the council meeting when the aldermen failed, after a tempestuous session, to come to an agreement with the police chief on selection of men to serve on the police force. The new chief, W. H. Souther, who had been sworn in only a few minutes earlier, presented council with three lists, each naming six men he desired appointed.

Only one, C. N. Keown, was approved.

Today the mayor issued an order continuing five members of the present police force on the job until council meets again January 20.

SAVANNAH, Ga., Jan. 2.—(F)—
Today marked the 148th anniversary of the ratification of the federal constitution by the state of Georgia, in event heralded by an artillery salute and reported two week later in the Georgia Gazette.
Georgia, the fourth state to ratify the constitution, sent delegates to a state convention in Augusta, where the group assembled on December 29, 1787, the Gazette said.
John Wereat, a delegate from Richmond county, was named president of the convention which adopted unanimously the constitution, with the understanding that the state remained in possession of all residuary powers and rights.
"As the last name was signed to the constitution, a party of Colonel Armstrong's regiment, quartered in this town, proclaimed the joyful tidings opposite the statehouse by 13 discharges from two pieces of artillery," the Gazette said.

Pork is a gran ddouble-header for and bake, covered, in hot oven (400 the meal planner seeking variety. Fresh pork and cured pork, ham and bacon, are of such different character as to be almost two distinct kinds of meat in one. Hence, the wide opportusity to serve this meat in many a new and tempting guise. To produce a masterly dish though, you must first be "meat-wise" in your selection depends the whole success of your dinner. Quality pork has firm, smooth-grained flesh of a pinkish white tinge. The solid white fat is evenly distributed; the skin amooth and thin; the chine-bones and back-bone soft and red, and the shanks moderately small. With these characteristics well in mind, there will be no doubt as to the wisdom of your selection. Then try all of the following new recipes for pork dishes. They will lend rare distinction to your everyday meals:

The crown of pork (pictured above) is made from the pork loin section, sometimes known as the pork chopsection. Two loin sections are used and shaped into a crown with the ribs pointing upward and outward. The meat is removed from the ends of the rib bones, and when ready to serve, paper frills are placed over the rib ends, making handles which the carver often appreciates.

Any Size Possible.

A crown roast of pork may be made into practically any size desired. The longer the loin sections used, the more ribs, and the more servings you can count on having. Usually, it is safe to plan two chops for each person.

Webb, about 70 years old, of Temple, a retired minister of the Christian church, died in a local hospital tonight of injuries received this afternoon when he was struck by an automobile on a Temple street during a heavy rain.

Lashing out at demands for curbing supreme court power, Senator Borah, of Idaho, declared today efforts at further "centralization of leadership" in the presidency amacked of a drive for fascism.

He aired his views on the constitution and a number of other questions at a press conference in his office prompted by an article he has written on supreme court for the February issue of Red Book magazine.

Questions by the dozen poured in on him. Some he answered, others he waived aside. Emphatically he made plain two points:

That he is not averse to amending the constitution.

That he believes an amendment

as pastor.

He is survived by his wife and sevthe constitution.

That he believes an amendment which would increase federal power to control national economic conditions is unessential and undesirable.

"I am not in favor of limiting the power of the states beyond what they are now," the senator said. ATLANTA-DALLAS LINE SLICES FLYING TIME

Scheduled flying time between Atlanta and Dallas has been cut two hours and five minutes, according to new schedules announced last night by Delta Air Lines.

The improved schedule is made possible through new equipment, officials announcing that the run will use twin-engined, all-metal 10-passenger Lockheed Electras, with two pilots.

The new schedule follows: Leave Atlanta 1:05 a. m., arrive Dallas 7.05 a. m., arrive Dallas 11 p. m., arrive Atlanta 4:30 a. m.; leave Atlanta 4:30 a. m.; leave Dallas 2:05 p. m.; leave Dallas 21 p. m., arrive Atlanta 4:30 a. m.; leave Dallas 9:30 a. m., arrive Atlanta 4:30 a. m.; leave Atlanta 4:30 a. m.; leave Dallas 9:30 a. m., arrive Atlanta 4:30 a. m.; leave Dallas 9:30 a. m., arrive Atlanta 4:30 a. m.; leave Atlanta 4:30 a. m.; leave Atlanta 4:30 a. m.; leave Dallas 9:30 a. m., arrive Atlanta 4:30 a. m.; leave Dallas 9:30 a. m., arrive Atlanta 4:30 a. m.; leave Dallas 9:30 a. m., arrive Atlanta 4:30 a. m.; leave Dallas 9:30 a. m., arrive Atlanta 4:30 a. m.; leave Dallas 9:30 a. m., arrive Atlanta 4:30 a. m.; leave Dallas 9:30 a. m., arrive Atlanta 4:30 a. m.; leave Dallas 9:30 a. m., arrive Atlanta 4:30 a. m.; leave Dallas 9:30 a. m., arrive Atlanta 4:30 a. m.; leave Dallas 9:30 a. m., arrive Atlanta 4:30 a. m.; leave Dallas 9:30 a. m., arrive Atlanta 4:30 a. m.; leave Dallas 9:30 a. m., arrive Atlanta 4:30 a. m.; leave Dallas 9:30 a. m., arrive Atlanta 4:30 a. m.; leave Dallas 9:30 a. m., arrive Atlanta 4:30 a. m.; leave Dallas 9:30 a. m., arrive Atlanta 4:30 a. m.; leave Dallas 9:30 a. m., arrive Atlanta 4:30 a. m.; leave Dallas 9:30 a. m., arrive Atlanta 4:30 a. m.; leave Dallas 9:30 a. m., arrive Atlanta 4:30 a. m.; leave Dallas 9:30 a. m., arrive Atlanta 4:30 a. m.; leave Atlanta 4:30 a.

The editors of the Egyptian nationalist papers did me the great honor of offering me a reception at their press club in Cairo. Some of the more daring amongst them expressed the opinion that the time had come for Egypt to ear itself loose from the British domination. England was in trouble, so they argued, and the more trouble England had the better they liked it, for it would afford Egypt an opportunity to take advantage of the temporary weakness and break away. Love-Feast in France. Just at the moment when France appears on the verge of chaos and civil war, she always lifts her head and emerges altogether rejuvenated, I wrote a few weeks ago. That miracle has happened again. The friction between the united front of the liberals tween the united front of the liberals and the fascists on the other hand was growing dangerous. Both sides were arming and drilling for a final tussle. Troops had been stationed in the neighborhood of the capital to be ready for any emergency and guardes mobiles had occupied the principal strategic positions in the capital. Everybody thought that it was only a question of days before the citizens would be battling each other in the would be battling each other in the streets. Gold was streaming out of the country in billions of francs. And the country in billions of francs, And then all at once—the miracle. Communists, socialists and fascists agree to disband their storm-troops and not to have recourse to violence. In a burst of emotion the Frenchman won out over the political partisan. For a moment there was "sacred union" for the sake of France. How long that sacred union will last is hard to say. Certainly not beyond next spring, when the national elections ever, France has been spared the hor-rors of civil war.

NEWS BEHIND THE NEWS BY PAUL MALLON.

SKIN-SAVING SESSION WASHINGTON, Jan. 2.—No detective work is needed to find out the controlling Hoodly force behind this session of congress. It is politics, and more politics. You can see it behind nearly every advance plan, act and speech. The capitol atmosphere has rarely been so highly surcharged with it at the congressmen. For them it is tomorrow and tomorrow, providing their last chance to polish up their records and save their skins.

Democrats, republicans, farmet-laborites and what-nots were busily at it long before the bell was to call them to their appointed places. They will be at it until the bell sends them home about five months hence.

BONUS SURGE You may have wondered, for instance, why there is all this rush to get the bonus passed in such a hurry at the opening of the session.

The answer to that is a lot of congressional leaders from the good old solid south are a little worried about their spring primaries. They stood with their President last time against the inflationary bonus. It as their duty as leaders to do so, but it was not very popular with the organized veterans in their districts.

NEUTRALITY Some of the same symptoms are less noticeable behind the whooping up of the neutrality issue. That is something everyone can be for. More than one senator says his incoming mail is heavier on that subject than on the Townsend plan. Also it is a good subject on which to split with the President, because the split is only over methods and not on purposes: The impending roasting of the same of the same split is only over methods and not on purposes: The impending roasting of the same split is only over methods and not on purposes: The impending roasting of the same split is only over methods and not on purposes: The impending roasting of the same split is only over methods and not on purposes: The impending roasting of the same split is only over methods and not on purposes. ing of J. P. Morgan, et al, on the senatorial split will add further sauce for the ganders. This situation also is fully appreciated.

DUCKING To give you a further hint of the intensity of the under-

A certain midwest republican congressman felt constrained to ansounce some weeks back that he would vote for the Townsend plan. What constrained him was the special election in Michigan. At least he made his announcement about that time, following a shower of pro-Townsend letters from his own constituents.

Since then, the anti-Townsend citizens of his district have been shouting at him through the mails. They were not organized, and he did not know there were so many of them.

This legislative gentleman is therefore now constrained to deny that he was ever really for the Townsend plan. He is saying he merely agreed to vote for it in the house "so it could go to the senate for a thorough discussion.

There will be more of that,

TESTING Even now, many congressmen have coyly hoisted their saliva-tipped fingers to find out which way this Townsend breeze is going. This is why Dr. Townsend's poll of congress has not progressed more swiftly. His inquisitive letter has been put on the bottom of the pile of unanswered mail on many a congressional desk.

Townsend pressure boys apparently have found that out, and have made a list of tardy respondents. At least, mail bags of threats and abuse have been raining on the tardy ones lately.

Most of the quick-jumpers have already made up their minds. A senator, who fled from his midwestern home a few weeks ago in the face of the Townsend storm, recently turned and faced it with a public statement. Such reasonable analytical speeches as that of Congressman Lea, of California (at Chico, December 12), are having an effect.

TENANTS Another juicy morsel is the Bankhead billion-dollar farm tenant bill. That would help a lot of congressmen in spots down south, where the Talmadge and the Huey Long hangover groups are making trouble. At least this is a strong consideration behind it. The bill passed the senate last session, but got stuck in the house when Representative Bankhead was ill and at home.

OPPOSING CONTEMPORARY VIEWS OF NUTRITION.
On the fly-leaf of his book, "Nervous Indigestion" (Hoeber), which I consider one of the finest accessory books in my library. Dr. Walter C.

V.-P. Garner is chipper and still wears rubber heels. He is handling the session for the President, not in any way conflicting, of course, with the nominal leaders, who are his friends. It was Garner who once told a group of leaders, who informed him a certain cabinet officer was telling congressmen how the President wanted them to vote: "Why, he's just a boy. Give him a message to take back to the President and sent him on his way."

It was a congressional leader who thought up the idea of having Mr. Roosevelt deliver his opening message to congress at night, so all could hear on the radio. Of course, he did not have the campaign in mind

The customary procedure of these missionaries is to call at night in a body on the victim of a political error, twist his arms and legs until the bones crack, then pour down his neck a quart of castor oil which may be mixed with kerosene. It is inartistic to use kerosene, however, for enough castor oil taken all at once is almost certain to rupture the human plumbing and to bring about death from natural causes within a few days. There is always plenty of castor oil.

They Need No Bravery To Walk in Fire If They Feel No Pain

BY ROBERT QUILLEN.

When a large man carries a sack of grain with apparent ease, and a smaller man totters under a similar burden, nobody is surprised by the difference. The weights are equal, but the men are not, and therefore it is clearly apparent that the smaller man is relatively more heavily

People understand that, but they seldom understand so well when

Two classmates in college take the same course, spend the same number of hours in study and make the same grade. One breaks under the strain and becomes a snarling maniac; the other suffers no ill effect. Why did equal loads produce effects so unequal? Because they were not equal at all. One classmate had greater ability to endure mental strain and therefore carried a burden that was relatively lighter.

Consider the quality called "yellowness."

When two men break their arms in precisely the same manner, one sweats and writhes and moans while the other gives no evidence of suffering. Observing the difference in their behavior, you call one yellow and admire the other's fortitude—his ability to "take it." But they are taking different medicine. It isn't probable that any two people suffer the same degree of pain from the same hurt:

Men of science say that the Aboriginees of Australia can amputate an injured foot by burning it off. Since a white man couldn't endure such an ordeal, we say that the primitive can "stand more pain."

But that remains unproved. The primitive hasn't the white man's highly developed nervous system. He doesn't feel what the white man feels. It takes more of a hurt to hurt him. A man who is chloroformed, drunk or excited may receive a severe wound and not be aware of it, while a sensitive man with nerves frayed by long suffering may suffer exquisite agony from an injury much more trivial. It is the awareness of pain that counts. We are all human, and we react in much the same way. The big back will bend as the little one does when it feels the same degree of strain.

Danger Removed.

The boy's death yesterday caused electric power and telephone linemen to concentrate throughout the day on the removal of the danger of dangling live wires. By nightfall practically all danger to lives was eliminated and all loose strands snipped from poles or other wires from which they dangled.

Power company linemen, who had made considerable headway in restoring sgrvice until the sudden thaw yesterday and Wednesday night caused fresh breaks and fresh trouble, found themselves in worse shape yesterday, than they have been since Sunday.

Beet sugar and cane sugar are exactly the same, chemically and when both are pure chemists cannot tell them apart. The United States Department of Agriculture experimented with cane sugar and beet sugar and concluded that "the two sorts of sugar were equally valuable for canning and identical in their behavior when of the same fineness of crystallization" (Bulletin 635). The idea that beet sugar is inferior to cane sugar for making jelly was tested by the United States Bureau of Chemistry and "no difference was found to exist in the finished product." One sugar was found to be as sweet as the other and as good for any purpose in which sugar is used. The prejudices against beet sugar arose in the days when it was poorly refined. Beet sugar is the usual sugar in Europe. (Copyright, 1936, for The Constitution.) Beet sugar and cane augar are ex-

UNCLE RAY'S CORNER

There are more than 2,000 kinds of snakes, and at least a few kinds are native to every land except the frozen North and the frozen South. New Zealand, Ireland and some of the smaller islands of the sea.

Some anakes appear to hear music.

Most snakes are not harmful, but about 600 kinds give forth poison. The bites of some, but not all, of the poisonous anakes are deadly to human beings. Coral snakes, cobras, rattlers and moccasins are among those which are very dangerous.

The fast-darting tongue of a snake may alarm a person, but the poison comes from the fangs—or hollow teeth. A poisonous snake has a pair of fangs in the upper jaw, and there lead down from poison sacs.

Snakes do not have eyelids, so they cannot cover their eyes. If we study the outside of the head of a snake, alive or dead, we find no sign of ears. The "hearing system" of makes has been a puzzle to men of salance. Some kinds has been dead.

snakes.

Some snakes appear to hear music. They move their heads when tunes are played by the snake charmers of India. The music seems to hold them spellbound, and to keep them from biting the Hindu "fakirs."

We read much of the deadly snakes in India. The reptiles even crawl into homes, and hundreds of persons are killed each year.

The art of snake charming is better known in India than anywhere else on earth. As they blow musical pipes, the fakirs are able to handle the most deadly snakes.

Often the snake charmers take out the most deadly snakes.

Often the snake charmers take out the fange or the poison sacs of the serpents. This is not always the case, however. Some expert charmers dare to handle snakes which have all their poison ready for use. If a man is not skillful enough, and tries to play with such snakes, he is likely to come to grief. More than one case is on record of snakes killing charmers who were not really experts.

Hindu snake charmers most often

Hindu snake charmers most often use cobras. These snakes grow to be five or six feet long. In their natural state, they crawl about the ground most of the time, but they can climb trees and are excellent swimmers. Their food is made up largely of frogs, lizards and birds' eggs.

TO SUPPRESS RIOTING

41 Persons Wounded in Anti-British Demonstrations, 19 Soldiers Hurt.

CAIRO, Jan. 2 .- (UP) -- Egyptian ldiers were used tonight for the first ime to suppress anti-British student Bloody rioting, in which 41 were wounded, apparently was out of police ontrol when the government called out steel-helmeted troops armed with rifles and bayonets.

As bricks and jagged chunks of pavement rained down on them, the government forces opened fire with shotguns, wounding 14 students with shotguns, wounding 14 students with birdshot.

The student front melted before the gunfire an dthe rioters fied disorderly through the streets. The police then charged them, cracking heavy batons against their skulls and sending eight more to the hospital.

Nineteen government men were injured in the student "bombardment," including eight Egyptian soldiers, eight Egyptian policemen and three officers. They were treated at a hospital for bruises and cuts.

The students were in a sullen, angry mood tonight. They invaded the center of the city by the hundreds, shouting "Down with Nahas Pasha!" (leader of the wafd, or nationalist party), and "Down with England!"

Impatient over the long delay in negotiations for a new independence treaty with Great Britain, the students are threatening to desert the nationalist united front, led by Nahas Pasha, and established their own front.

A note to the League of Nations from Addis Ababa said the fascista had burned churches and were attempting to exterminate the civilian population. It added there would be no retaliation through inhumane treatment of captured soldiers.

Reports of Italian bombardments of Red Cross units in Ethiopia aroused grave concern among members of the International Red Cross.

The committee, said a spokesman, was beginning to wonder whether the Red Cross flag was not developing into a "symbol of death" rather than one of mercy.

League sources said the bombings probably would be discussed at a meeting of the League council January 20. or possibly even sooner.

Folowing the bombing of a Swedish Red Cross committee expressed concern for the safety of other foreign hospital workers in Ethiopia.

SANDERSVILLE, Ga., Jan. 2.—
Add this one to the list of "good" hunting stories. It concerns Willis. a setter from the Eugene Ghost strain.
State Senator W. M. Goodwin and Jeff W. Warren, both of Sandersville borrowed I. B. Lieberman's setter, Willis, to hunt quail. During the hunt the dog came to a point in a field in which a number of shoats were feeding.

Before the hunters could flash the covey, the hogs attempted to frighten the dog off his point. Two of the shoats pushed their snouts against the dog, but the setter remained on the point until the covey was flushed. Three birds were killed on the rise.

The Texas legend of super-football ended along about first dark on January 1, 1936.

The Texas legend of super-football ended along about first dark on January 1, 1936.

For months there had been a plethora of stuff written about the football power being located in the southwest.

And then, on January 1, 1 sat in the Tulane stadium and saw a rather dull Texas Christian team play an equally dull L. S. U. team and win by a 3-to-2 score. L. S. U. at all times seemed the better football team. Both were good defensively, neither had anything resembling a goal-line punch. The running game was good. But it couldn't score. The passing game was mullified, to some extent, at any rate, by rain.

But the point is, a really great football team is great whether the sun shines or the rain pours. And a great passing team can pass any day.

The 3-to-2 victory proved very little, except that Texas Christian and L. S. U. were good, average football teams of the type which go through a schedule with one or two defeats. And no more.

At the same time, the S. M. U. team, undefeated and untied, was being badly outplayed by Stanford's already defeated eleven. And it was defeated, 7 to 0, by practically the same team which Alabama all but ran off the lot on January 1, 1935, in the Rose Bowl game.

They have good football teams in Texas. But to say that football power is centralized there is ridiculous. The Texas teams, judged by T. C. U. and S. M. U. in their greatest tests, aren't much offensively unless are no better than the good teams in any other section.

The Texas teams, judged by T. C. U. and S. M. U. in their greatest tests, aren't much offensively unless are not very much to see, and, to be perfectly truthful, are pretty dull.

Stanford's victory was called a drab affair and a game of not thrills. The T. C. U.-L. S. U. game saw some magnificent defensive play. But defensive play, after all, is pretty awful to watch. And then, on January 1, 1 sat in the Tulane stadium and saw a rather dull Texas Christian team play an equally dull L. S. U. team and win by a 3-to-2 score. L. S. At any rate, it is fine to have the Texans back in the foot-ball family as just some more of the boys who play football well. And not as super-men, as the legend had them until the dusk of the glad New Year's first day.

AS TO GREAT TEAMS.

Great football teams come along only now and then. The 1935 season had one team which merited the phrase. That was Minnesota, which could have, in all probability, spanked any other team in the country by at least a brace of touchdowns.

In 1935 Alabama and Minnesota were great teams. Alabama proved it by meeting every test. I note there is some disposition to explain S. M. U.'s defeat by saying the boys had the jitters. They most assuredly did, just as assuredly as has every other team that has played there had them. That's a part of it. But the great teams, such as Alabama in the bowl last year, beat the jitters and the other team. That's one of the tests of greatness.

And as yet I haven't seen a forward passer who was in the class of Dixie Howell, nor a receiver who could "break" or use a change of pace in his speed as could Don Hutson. Neither of the Texas teams have men to match them.

TWO REAL PLAYERS.

There was some excellent football played in the two lines Saturday at New Orleans. But for real football greatness there were but two, Gaynell Tinsley, of L. S. U., and Sammy Baugh, Baugh undoubtedly is a great passer. I do not believe he available but reports from a wide area indicated frozen quail covies both wild and in captivity. He renewed a passer. There was one very harassed young man in New Orleans on New Year's Day. It seems that one of the prominent visitors to the city was one of Admiral Richard Byrd's officers who had been on the last trip to Little America, at the south pole.

As the evening grew on and morning came on, the young man became very enthusiastic. He wanted to go on the next trip. Friends provided a written agreement and the young man signed it.

Louisiana's history and one of the

It was the largest football crowd in Louisiana's history and one of the biggest ever assembled in the south.

Last year the Sugar Bowl game between Temple and Tulane drew 26, 000 and grossed $61,750. Each team last year received $20,750 after expenses and the association's portion had been deducted.

Officials attributed the increase this year to rapidly expanding interest in the game together with the popularity of the teams.

Louisiana State entered the fray as undisputed champion of the Southeastern conference, while T. C. U. was runner-up in the Southwest conference, losing only to Southern Methodist's Mustangs in a battle that easily could have gone either way.

Warren Miler, president of the Midwinter Sports Association, said the distribution to the teams could not be determined until all expenses had been paid. He said it would be announced within a few days.

On the basis of the teams' percentage last year, L. S. U. and T. C. U. each should receive between $25,000 and $30,000.

Orange Boul 'Gate'

The name Rose Bowl wields a most powerful influence upon our American college football teams. North Carolina, with a team heralded as one of the south's best in a decade, couldn't forget she had a bid to Pasadena in her hip pocket as she went into the Duke game. The Tarheels lost their pants that day.

A team such as Southern Methodist, able to rise to the heights during the regular season, capable of meeting every emergency, comes along and behaves like a nervous bridegroom at Rose Bowl. Which indicates rather definitely that the Rose Bowl classic is not just another football game. It is the dream of most lads some day to play in the bowl. And once they get their chance—they feel like yelling—"mama, come get your baby boy."

Whether it be the long and beautiful train ride; the realization that they are about to see and hear their makes our usually constrained footballers so high-strung, is not determined.

Georgia Hurdler Defeated Three of Nation's Best at New Orleans.

By Ralph McGill.

A winter campaign in the major in-loor track meets of New York is being planned for Forest (Spec) Townes.

Later in the year, Grant eliminar Georgia's great young hurdler who gives every indication of becoming an Olympic champion.

H. J. Stegeman, athletic director at Georgia, and Track Coach Weens Baskin, the latter a great hurdler while as a huburn, expect to begin plans for Townes next week.

"We want to enter him in some of the big eastern meets," said Baskin, "if we find it possible to do so. He needs his speed sharpened up a bit and those meets, with their short sprintling hurdles, will accomplish that.

"We are making no claims for Townes but he does look good, is a great competitor and likes to run," said Baskin.

"IMPORTANT WIN.

The youngster's victory at New Orleans was really more important than appeared on the surface of the report he had set a new southern record in winning the 120-yard high hurdles. He defeated three of the best hurdlers in the nation in winning and set the record while breasting a hard wind.

Townes is a remarkably fine competitive shlert. He had trained but two weeks because of a football injury. Unlike most track men, he goes for football in a big way. He has had two ankle injuries but insists on playing.

A little story will illustrate his competitive spirit. He was excused from football last fall after a severe injury. He recovered in a month and at the time Georgia's reserves were at a low ebb. Townes sought out Coach Harry Mehre, asked to be allowed to come back and did. In the Auburn game he played the best game for Georgia.

Severe Haxing.

Suggestions have been heard that the Governor desired the national committeemanship as a means of giving him a sounding board for his attacks on President Rosevelt. If he should attend the January 8 meeting of the committee here next week with that object in view he would probably find himself the subject of severe hazing at the hands of other members of the body, who, so far as the records show, are all backing Mr. Roosevelt wholeheartedly.

JENNIE BETH SHEFFIELD became Mrs. Coleman Daniel Clarke last Saturday soon after the sleet storm struck the city. Among her wedding gifts were several pairs of handsome silver candlesticks, and little did the donors realize that their presents were to prove of such great service on the bride's wedding day. Everyone is fully aware of the weather conditions without going into detail. After the Sheffield-Clarke ceremony took place at Druid Hills Baptist church, guests were entertained at a reception given at the Clifton road residence of the

When the lights went out, "Jabe" (the bride's nickname) had not changed her bridal robes for her traveling suit. Lots of spare candles were in the house, but there were no spare holders, as all the candlesticks were being used in the reception rooms where guests were assembled. So the wedding gifts were pressed into service, and Frances Stapleton, the maid of honor, appeared with a candlestick in each hand to precede the beautiful bride up the stairway.

SALLY feels that she really must tell the prize "stork story" about a prominent young Savannah couple. It concerns an attractive young man, who paced anxiously up and down a long corridor. Finally a nurse appeared and said that mother and child were doing nicely. He tore madly away from the hospital and to his mother's home, where he breathlessly announced that his wife was fine and so was the

His mother exclaimed vehemently and with great joy over the event. Then, "What is it," she asked, "a boy or a girl?" The proud father looked quite hacked, ran out the door, and back to the hospital to find out.

THIS riddle is so good that it I even has Sally stumped, but she knows it's true. It seems that a young man came to Atlanta recently from Jacksonville to stay one night and have a blind date with a charming bru-net widow. As it happened, however, he came, he saw, and he stayed a week, having a date with the attractive widow every night. Sally hears that it was a blind date, and that the young couple has been blind to everyone else ever since.

THE WHITE HOUSE, WASHINGTON, D. C., Jan. 2, 1936.—We did not have a very large family group to see the New Year in. My eldest son and his wife, three friends of theirs, a young cousin, Mr. Joseph W. Alsop, who has been sent by his paper to cover the news in congress, and a half a dozen other close friends, were with us.

At 11:45 we were sitting in my husband's study, the oval room, and we turned on the radio so as to be sure of the exact moment. A traditional New Year's eggnogg was passed around.

As the clock struck 12 we all stood up and over the radio floated "Auld Lang Syne," as my husband proposed the first toast, which is always "To the United States." Then followed the New Year's greetings to each other and a telephone call to our daughter in New York. It was 1:30 before we all stopped talking and finally went on our way to bed. I was particularly struck, in talking with some of the younger men, to find their minds running on such serious subjects as to what would be the outcome in various European countries of their present situations. On no previous year can I remember hearing history so violently discussed, and social conditions evaluation as to their bearing both at home and abroad.

Many shades of political opinion were represented, but the whole trend of the conversation strengthened my belief that the thing we will have to be thankful for as we look over this past year, is a growing sense of responsibility and social consciousness amongst all our citizens. An important social event of New Year's Day was the tea-dance given by Mise Julia Lowry Block and her brother, Bates Block Jr., at the Piedmont Driving Club, in compliment to members of the Phi Pi Club and the D. Flying Colonel and Family Remain in Seclusion in Liverpool.

LIVERPOOL, England, Jan. 2.—(P) Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh inquired about train schedules at Cardiff, Wales, today, but he and his wife and Wales, today, but he and his wife and their son, Jon, remained shut up in their hotel suite for another day.
Inquiries as to trains were made telephonically to a hall porter, who listed the times they could depart. But the flyer made no move to go and it was believed he does not plan to leave Liverpool before tomorrow.

Three-year-old Jon, for whose security the Lindberghs are reported to have fled from America, is being entrusted to the care of no one except the parents. Mrs. Lindbergh is doing everything for the child and has not hired a nurse.

Lieut. Helms.

MARCHFIELD, Riverside, Cal., Jan. 2.—(P)—Mountains and desert stretches of southern California were searched today for Lieutenant John T. Helms, who vanished Monday flying an army pursuit plane from San Francisco bay to this post.

Lieutenant Helms, 26, is one of the most popular officers of the headquarters post here for the first wing, G. H. Q. air force.

For three days squadrons of air planes, and an army blimp from Sunnyvale, Cal., have been flying over the route he was believed to have taken, the San Joaquin Valley, via Fresno and Bakerfield, across the Mojave desert and the San Bernardino mountains.

Culbertson on Contract

World's Champins Player and Greates Card Analyst.

A hand reported in a bridge maga-tine of Great Britain has drawn my sine of Great Britain has drawn my ever-roving eye. It was played in an important team-of-four match and would have resulted in a large "gwing" except for the curious fact that noth teams made the same agregious blunder in the bidding.

I am using it as an illustration of a shocking overcall.

South, dealer.

Neither side vulnerable,

South West North East
Pass I diam'd 2 clubs Double
2 spades Double (final bid)

Especially with a narrner who has passed first hand, North's two club overcall is the sort of bid that not only invites but actually demands severe punishment. How could North possibly fail to see that a club bid on his part would be 90 per cent certain to evoke a spade bid by his partner? His hand, assuming the diamond bid to have been honest, is fitted to the play of only one suit, clubs, and even that would depend on some club strength in South hand. I cannot point out too often, or too emphatically, that when a player has the opponents' suit he must be more than usually chary of overcalling.

The two spade contract was, of course, slaughtered. West opened his singleton club; East won and returned a low club, South ruffed high and West over-ruffed with the queen. West now led the nine of hearts, which his partner won with the ace, and a heart return gave the defenders two more tricks.

The declarer guessed the position of the diamond ace, playing the jack from dummy on West's next lead of that suit. East's ace won and the club ace was led. Again declarer ruffed high and again West overruffed. With only four spades, the J 6 4 3, left, declarer found himself in the dummy. He-ruffed a diamond and led the 13th heart, which the opponents ruffed. The spade jack had to be conceded for the third trick of an eight trick contract. Incidentally, I might say that against good defense, declarer could not have made another trick by any line of play, such as discarding bn the second club lead, for instance. The 900-point penalty was entirely his partner's fault.

COLLECTIONS DROP

Returning Prosperity Brings Slump in Marshal's Office.

Marshal's collections for Atranta during 1935 totaled $1,303,747.50, according to a tabulation of the year's activities being compiled yesterday by Riley Elder, collector of revenue.

The sum represents tax, license and other collections by the office and compares with $1,847,023.68 collected from the same sources in 1934. Street improvement collections for 1935 totaled $199,639 as against $283,956.06 in 1934. Elder blamed the loss in his department to better business conditions., "People of Atlanta met their obligations more promptly in 1935." he said. "They had the money to do so and their bills were not sent to fi. fa. We do not handle voluntary payments."

The deed and rents department, established during the year as a part of Elder's duties, netted an additional $16,514.35.

REV. VASON M. BARRETT-FUNERAL RITES TODAY

FUNERAL RITES TODAY

Funeral services for the Rev. Vason Monroe Barrett, a resident of Atlanta for 72 years, will be held at 2 o'clock this afternoon at the Peachtree chapel of Brandon-Bond-Condon.

Mr. Barrett, an ordained Baptist minister, was widely known in Atlanta as "Uncle Doc." For many years he had been a police officer and had served on nearly every beat in the city. He was rated as one of the best pistol marksmen on the force.

Following his retirement from the police force, Mr. Barrett operated several grocery stores and devoted much of his time to the ministry.

He was 83 years old at the time of his death. Funeral services will be conducted by the Revs. J. J. Blanks and T. B. Thrailkill. Burial will be in Oakland cemetery.

Nothing that walks on two legs is more contemptible than the man who trades on his wile's affection, or her sense of luty toward him, to eke out his sorry existence. He has no pride, no self-respect, no honor. From time immemorial he has been held up to scorn by decent people. But this doesn't worry a parasite. A much-talked-of book has been recently published in which the author, a member of America's choicest aristocracy, tells the story of her husband's shameless career as a society parasite. Well-born, well-educated, sought after as a dinner table guest of society's four hundred, he sponged his way to the top peak of popularity and married a rich and beautiful widow who spent her life writing checks to cover the exit of his slimy trail through America and Europe. When one has put down the book, called "King Lehr," one can't decide who is in the worst light, the wife who financed the parasite or the parasite himself. She excuses herself for living with him on the ground that her mother abhorred divorce and excused herself for supporting him on the ground that once in abe had to go through with the dirty business. The only thing she didn't explain was how she got up the courage to write and publish a book that solled her name and the names of most of the other people who pass through it.

ANSWER:

Government farms for indigent, aponging sons-in-law would be fine but it is doubtful if they could be filled were they established. In my state there is a law to cover the case of the man who won't support his family. If convicted by the courts of non-support he is ordered to pay and if he fails to come across he is put in jail. Mighty few wives avail themselves of this law. Perhaps it is family pride that restrains them, or affection, or fear of what may follow. Anyhow the law stands to consign such culprits to jail and there are precious few occupants of cells charged with this offense. NEW YORK, Jan. 2.—(UP)—
Stock market traders cautiously await President Roosevelt's annual message to congress tomorrow evening. Stocks jumped about nervou. Trading was fairly active, however, totaling approximately 2,240.—Out shares.

Steel shares were articularly strong as the Street heard rumors of increasing steel production during the year. The reducing of automobile accidents to a minimum during the recent inclement weather holds a lesson in safety for all motorists, the Safety Council of The Constitution pointed out yesterday.

The Safety Council, which is sponsoring a campaign for safe driving in the city and state, points to the fact that few traffic accidents occurred during the period of ice-coated streets because motorists were forced to be careful.

"Knowing that driving was hazardous and that the danger was right there before them, motorists drove carefully and alertly," members of the Safety Council held.

"This shows conclusively that the exercise of caution and care in driving can, and does, reduce traffic accidents."

But the main point that the council wished to make was that danger, although unseen, is ever present on the carefulty of your part in reducing accidents. Drive carefully unseen, is ever present on the carefulty of your part in this fight which is worthy of your efforts.

Mayfair Country Club Members Enjoy Brilliant New Year Dance

Mayfair Country Club members celebrated its fifth anniversary with an elaborate New Year's Eve dinner-dance in the Pompeian ballroom of the Atlanta Biltmore. This gala affair assembled the members at 10 o'clock for an elaborate dinner, congenial groups assembling at beautifully appointed tables and adding interest to the occasion was a host of visitors. The beautiful ballroom was attractively decorated to carry out the holiday motif. The tables were placed around the sides of the ballroom and baskets of flowers adorned the tables, which were artistically decorated with amusing favors for the guests, including hats, caps and noise-makers added a note of color and festivity to the occasion.

Dancing began at 11 o'clock and continued until 4:30 o'clock, and as 1936 had its auspicious beginning at midnight, the lights were off and an interesting and enthusiastic demonstration marked the passing of the oldyear and the advent of the new year.

Present were Mr. and Mrs. E. Joseph, Mr. and Mrs. S. I. Mendel, Mr. and Mrs. Ben Bressler, Dr. and Mrs. In this complete the component of the color of color and festivity to the occasion.

Heart On Right Side Saves Her From Death

PERTH AMBOY, N. J., Jan. 2.—
(P)—Mrs. Mary Krasko, 20, is alive today because her heart is on the right side of her body.

The woman was shot early today when a revolver in the hands of her husband, Anton, 21, accidentally discharged during a New Year's celebration at the Krasko home. The bullet penetrated her left breast.

At Perth Amboy General hospital,
Dr. Cyril Hunter said that if her heart had been on the normal side the gunshot wound might have caused instant death.

Krasko was released in $500 bail.

IN HEAVY DEMAND

Government Issues Make Most Progress on Market in Month.

Daily Bond Averages.

By G. A. PHILLIPS,

Associated Press Financial Writer.

NEW YORK, Jan. 2.—(R)—Domestic corporation bonds advanced over a broad front in the initial session of the year today.

In the railroad division advances of 1 or 2 points were in a big majority, and there were notable firm spots in the industrials. Utilities were inclined to lag behind, although losses in most cases were small.

United States government bonds blossomed out in the most sweeping move in a month and transfers of $1,930,000 in this section were a considerable improvement over the listless sessions during December, when sales seldom got above the $600,000 mark. Closing prices were the best of the day and ranged from an advance of 9.32ds in Treasury 3 1.4s of 1964 to a gain of 5-32ds in the 2 3.4s of 1946. Most all of the active issues were in the upper bracket.

There was no news of importance to affect the market and the showing was believed to reflect persistent yearend reinvestment demand. The ability of some of the high-priced industrial bonds to add substantially to quoted values lent strong emphasis to this theory.

American Rolling Mill 4 1.4s and Republic Steel 5s, both selling far above par, were in demand at advances of 1 to 2 points. A respectable showing was made by many others, including Paramount 6s at 93 1.2,
Allis-Chalmers 4s at 119, Anaconda
4 1.2s at 100 and Container 6s at 104 3.4. Universal Pipe & Radiator
6s bounced up 6 3.4 points to 26.

A large assortment of rail bonds ended 1 to 2 higher. Among the more active issues were St. Paul 5s at 20 1.2; Northwestern 4.3 at 12 1.4;
Nickel Plate 5 1.2s at 83 1.4; St.
Louis-Southwestern 5s at 29 7.8, and Sault Ste. Marie 4s at 34 1.2.

A 2-point drop in American Water Works 6s was the darkest spot in the utility section where there were more small losses than gains.

Foreign bonds were helped by further advances of 1 to 2 points in the Italian group and firming tendencies among some of the Scandinavians.

The Associated Press average of 10 industrial bonds got into new high ground

AVERAGE PRICE. NEW ORLEANS, Jan. 2.—(P)
The average price of middling cotton today at 10 southern spot markets was 11.81 cents a pound; government subsidy 0.19 of a cent a pound.

By FRED WILLIAMS.

NEW ORLEANS, Jan. 2.—(P)—
Cotton prices improved around 50 cents a bale today as a better slock market and a generally better feeling regarding business conditions pervaded dealings.

From the standpoint of cotton itself there was little in the crop of newsover the holiday to warrant any price advance.

Foreign markets were a little better, but the buying here was largely professional in character. Shorts in near positions were covering freely.

Then spinners continue to transfer ter, but the buying here was largely professional in character. Shorts in near positions were covering freely. Then spinners continue to transfer hedges from March to the more distant positions.

As a result March made the best advance, gaining 14 points to close at its best price of the day, 11.46. May gained 11 points to 11.19. On a few sales January worked up 5 points to 11.70. In the spot market at New Orleans middling advanced 14 points to 11.95.

Now that the new year has started more business is anticipated from spinners and cloth firms. Year-end inventories have held these two divisions of the cotton trade up, and while no important volume of business is expected until the supreme court decides what it will do with the processing tax, a brisk upturn is expected in this type of trade.

The weather continued freezing and wet over a large portion of the belt. Spot sales were good, running far ahead of last year. One commentator pointed out that if the present demand for spots holds up much longer an actual scarcity of raw cotton will develop in a short time Houston reported considerable demand in the market there, largely for the purpose of filling year-end commitments.

Anticipation of President Roosevelt's message to congress tomorrow night brought some buying into the market on the unconfirmed report that the chief executive would indicate a very definite "turn to the right" on the part of the administration. Of course, the agitation for the early adoption of the bonus bill lent an inflationery tinge to market ideas.

CHICAGO, Jan. 2.-(P)purchasing on the part of overseas wheat importing countries led to broadened speculative demand here today for wheat and brought about substantial price gains.

day for wheat and brought about substantial price gains.

Chicago wheat quotations rose to within a few cents of the 1935-36 topmost record, with maximum new upturns of 1 1-2 cents a bushel. Late estimates were that European importers had bought as high as 5,000,000 advanced today on trade buying and covering. Near months led the advance early, but later deliveries were relatively steady in the late tradium. The market closed steady at net advances of 8 to 14 points.

Buying of the late positions was promoted by the relatively steady ruling of Liverpool and some foreign buying.

Exports today, 25,335, making 3,568,881 so far this season. Port receipts, 9,585. United States port stocks, 2,776,278.

Moisture Proves Needed Gift to 'Bread Basket;' Boosts Prospects.

KANSAS CITY, Jan. 2.—(P)—Snow and rain, the New Year's gift to the nation's breadbasket, boosted wheat prospects generally tonight.

The year started with light snow or rain over all the wheat belt except the extreme western parts of Nebraska, Kansas, Oklahoma and Texas.

Moisture was needed hadly by a struggling crop in much of the area.

Snowfall ranged up to eight inches in northeastern Kansas and northwestern Missouri.

Dust, which had begun to blow again in western Oklahoma, was settled by light rain and snow. Boise City and Guymon, in the so-called "dust bowl," missed most of the moisture but Texas county, Oklahoma, formerly a big wheat producer, had a 2 1-2-inch snow.

Harry B. Cordell, president of the Oklahoma Board of Agriculture, said the moisture "created the best prospects for a wheat crop in four years."

Dodge City, Kan., didn't mind that its New Year's Day "Dust Bowl" football game and a buffalo hunt (one buffalo) were called off because of snow. Wheat-conscious residents viewed the moisture in terms of dollars and cents.

A two-inch snow fell at Amarillo, Texas.

A two-inch snow fell at Amarillo, Texas.

Light snow in central and eastern Nebraska brought from crop experts statements the outlook is good for wheat except in western Nebraska.

P. H. Stewart, Nebraska University agronomist, said more moisture is needed—"we haven't yet recovered completely from the 1934 drouth."

Rain and snow in Minnesota and the Dakotas fell on frozen soil, generally, and was of no particular benefit to the wheat, said Dr. Andrew Boss, University of Minnesota agronomist. It would, however, provide a protective covering for wheat and help it through the winter, he said.

Parts of Illinois received half an inch of rain today and A. J. Surratt, federal agricultural statistician at Springfield described prospecta as "about average." Fall rains were below normal and the New Year's rain was welcomed.

In 25 years under his direction the Scout move the lives of about 7,000,000 boys and men. Its membership now numbers 1,010,506 men and cub packs.

Dr. West said he intends to continue and the plans are being considered to extend scouting among older boys through "alumni groups."

USE OF BALLISTICS URGEDBY SEABROOK

Installation of Equipment Advocated in Annual Report to Sturdivant.

Installation of ballistic equipment was urged yesterday by Captain B. W. Seabrook, head of the Atlanta police bureau of identification, in his annual report submitted to Chief T. O. Sturdivant.

Captain Seabrook pointed to the effective use of ballistic technique by investigators for the federal government as well as its use by police departments of many metropolitan cities.

cities.

His report revealed that 82 Atlantans were finger-printed for personal identification purposes, and that a total of 1,658 persons were finger-printed and photographed last year, as compared with the 1934 figure of 911.

Finger-printing of suspects resulted in identification of 28 escaped convicts and 442 persons with previous criminal records.

According to the report, the bureau was also responsible for apprehension and conviction of four persons on burglary charges at Eatonton, Ga.; one person on a double-murder charge at Marietta, Ga., and one person on a murder charge at LaGrange, Ga.

Copies of all finger-prints taken at the Atlanta bureau last year were forwarded to headquarters of the Department of Justice at Washington, as part of the federal organization's clearing house system on finger-prints for the entire nation.

ISLANDERS SEND PLEA FOR FOOD, MEDICAL AID

CRISFIELD. Md., Jan. 2.—(F)—
A plea for food supplies and medical aid on Smith Island was brought here today by three volunteers, who set out Monday morning in a small oyster boat for the mainland.

A report that a serious situation was developing at Tangier Island came with the arrival of the first mail boat in a week.

Both islands have been isolated since Christmas by ice on the Chesapeake Bay, two feet thick in some places. Smith Island is eight miles from here and Tangier 12 miles.

him instantly.

Elicemen, telephone linemen and ambulance surgeons worked for an hour fand a half trying to revive the boy, but with no success. The shock had been too great for the frail body of a schoolboy.

Young Head was hurrying on an errand, the umbrells clutched before him to ward off the driving rain. He failed to see the wire dangling in his path and doctors said they were sure he never realized what had struck him.

Passing pedestrians, who witnessed the sidewalk electrocution, said the boy stood rigidly under the grip of the current; his hands and arms turned a dark green; his right arm, clutching the umbrella, was almost burned off.

SINGLE TEST HIT

Firm Challenges Rights of U. S. in Utilities Case.

NEW YORK, Jan. 2.—(A)—The Commonwealth & Southern Corporation today challenged the right of the government to test the constitutionality of the controverted utilities act through a single test case and charged a "plan and agreement" among certain government officials to frustrate and delay tests of the act's validity. An announcement from the corporaand delay tests of the act's validity.

An announcement from the corporation's offices here, said its counsel, Colonel Henry L. Stimson, former secretary of state, and John G. Weadock, of New York, had petitioned the United States district court at Wilmington, Del., to permit the corporation to file a supplemental bill of complaint against the government in the corporation's test suit.

Re-Focusing of Electronic Beams Gives Man Eye To See in Dark

By HOWARD W. BLAKESLEE,
Associated Press Science Editor.

ST. LOUIS, Jan. 2.—(P)—Science today gave man an eye to see in the dark—a foot-long vacuum tube on which the nivisible infra-red and ultraviolet rays that fill the air form a visible, living, moving, continuous image.

The new tube was shown for the first time at a general meeting of the American Association for the Advancement of Science by its discovererers and inventors, Dr. V. K. Zworykin and Dr. George A. Morton of the Radio Corporation of America laboratories.

The biologists were the most interested of today's spectators. They see immediate use of the new eye. Heretofore they have been limited to photography for seeing in the ultraviolet and the infra-red. Now, they commented, they can soon have microscopes for both kinds of rays. The ultra-violet reveals objects smaller than can be seen in light of any kind.
